Lansing-based Liquid Web Adding Jobs with 60 to 100% Growth Rate

CAPITAL GAINS, 10/3/2007

Lansing-based web hosting company Liquid Web is expecting to grow by 60 to 100 percent this year and next, according to Liquid Web spokesman Travis Stoliker.

Liquid Web added 35 employees last year and currently has 70 to 74 employees. Stoliker says this number will jump next year.

"We're always hoping for 100 percent, but we'd be happy with 60 percent," he says.

Liquid Web is a web hosting company that has customers all over the world. It's also one of only five Lansing-area companies to make Inc. magazine's list of the 5,000 fastest growing private companies in the country.

"Liquid Web is really nice for the Michigan economy, because we're not only dependent on the Michigan economy," Stoliker says. "We bring money in from all over the world."

Stoliker attributes Liquid Web's growth to its commitment to 24-hour customer services and talented employees. Stoliker says the company's laid back philosophy — employees don't have to clock in, there's a game room in the office — helps attract Lansing's high tech talent.
